FLOOR DEBATE

January 17, 2002 LB 824

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay, or days?

SENATOR REDFIELD: ...the answer earlier.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay. There's a window in there when there would be no detectable change in the uterus, apparently.

SENATOR REDFIELD: Well, wasn't answering that question, but what it is saying, that at two months of pregnancy, before the first trimester is through, that in fact the uterus would not go back to normal for a week to two weeks.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Oh, so you're looking at the full first trimester and not just that early period where she says the pregnancy test shows that she is pregnant. But then how would we deal with one of those situations that early in the pregnancy if the man is to be charged with murder because he used violence against her and she claims that she miscarried?

SENATOR REDFIELD: I think, again, it would go back to the medical evidence that would be garnered from the woman, and if there is no evidence of the pregnancy there would be nothing to charge other than an assault.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: I think I understand what you were...you gave us. Thank you.

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Senator Chambers, your light is on, but you've spoken three times. Senator Foley.

SENATOR FOLEY: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I wonder if Senator Chambers might yield to a question or two.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Yes.

SENATOR FOLEY: Senator Chambers, I...I think you probably agree with me that typically those of us in public office are often characterized as either pro-life or pro-choice. Those seem to be the two labels that are often used. Would you agree?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Yes, I agree.
